Conversation #3: CONCEPT

Dear Lake Stevens' Residents, Future Residents and Neighbors:

I hope you'll accept my invitation to join us in a six month process to study the area south of the current Lake Stevens Urban Growth Area between Highways 2 and 9. By planning for development together now, we can create a special place to live, work and play in the future.

The community planning process starts with three workshops where the City will listen to your long-term vision for the area. Each workshop will build on what we heard you say in the previous conversation.

The workshop, or "World Café," will be lively, fun, and informative. The consultant, AHBL, is experienced with this innovative, yet simple process for hosting conversations that link and build on each other as people move between groups. In the groups we all discover new insights into the questions and issues most important in our life, work and community.

Working collectively, we can increase the capacity for effective action in pursuit of common goals. I hope you can attend at least one, if not all, of these "conversations."
